Spring/Summer 2026

Belvest celebrates the lightness of spring and the energy of summer with a collection that is a hymn to the art of feeling. The new Spring/Summer 2026 collection is born from a desire to narrate emotions through elegance, blending the purity of natural materials with the modernity of form. A sensory journey that begins with materials such as the purest linen, the most lustrous silk, the finest wool, spring cashmere and a new interpretation of a technical blend of mohair and kapok. These are transformed into garments that speak of freedom, lightness, and authenticity.

The colours are inspired by raw, unspoilt nature: neutral, understated tones merge with floral and botanical nuances, achieving a refined balance between the warmth of coral, the delicacy of blush pink, pistachio green, and burnt earth. Each shade is chosen to evoke emotion, to tell a story, and to allow the Belvest wearer to express themselves with grace and awareness.

The collection stands out for its modern sartorial flair: clean lines, contemporary silhouettes, and tailoring that naturally enhances the body's shape.

Among the standout pieces, the JACKETINTHEBOX® line remains, reinterpreted and updated with a summery, modern approach, introducing a new series of fully deconstructed jackets – free of canvas and internal structures – designed for those seeking relaxed, minimalist elegance. As light as a summer breeze, these jackets are defined by their fluid fit and essential design, which highlights the quality of the fabrics and the freedom of movement. Alongside these, a new line of contemporary-cut trousers debuts, featuring a comfort-focused construction: dynamic pockets, balanced proportions, and a fit that naturally follows every movement. Together, the jacket and trousers create a suit that redefines the concept of formality, perfectly balancing style and functionality.

The trouser collection is further expanded with a carefully selected range of fabrics, offering models with essential cuts that embody understated, everyday elegance, reinterpreting comfort with a contemporary sartorial touch. Each style is designed to offer freedom of movement, refinement, and versatility, adapting naturally to every style and occasion.

Completing the collection are linen and cotton shirts, designed to accompany every moment of the day with effortless style.

Belvest Spring/Summer 2026 is a collection to be lived and felt – on the skin and in the heart. An invitation to rediscover the art of dressing as a form of personal expression, where each garment becomes a gesture, an emotion, a work of art.
